

THE NEW SCHOOL PRINCIPAL MEETS WITH THE BOARD OF SCHOOL DIRECTORS.

Cement Pavement to be Laid at the York St. High School Building—Other Improvements.

The Gettysburg School Board met on last Thursday evening at the Meade High School Building and much of interest to the schools was considered and acted upon.

After the reading and approval of the minutes a hearing was given those present.

R. H. Thomas asked the Board to select a male teacher for the colored school. He was of the opinion that that school specially needed a male teacher, a good disciplinarian, one who would make the scholars obey. He said that in recent experiences in the school had shown the value of a male teacher. He stated that a large number of those who sent their children to the school wanted a male teacher. The trouble had been before that no one could be suggested. Now the name of I. P. Council was suggested, who held a five years' certificate of the State of Virginia. Rev. Beck presented a letter from the Supt. of Schools recommending I. P. Council, and Rev. Beck, stated that he knew the man and could recommend him. Later in the evening the Board decided to postpone the election of a teacher for the colored school. There was to be a teachers' examination by Prof. Roth on July 10th and after that date the Board would be better prepared to act.

Several small bills were ordered to be paid.

The annual report of the secretary was read. One of the items of interest appearing by it was that the cost of education of each pupil amounted per month to $1.87.

Professor Burgoon was invited to take up any matters that he deemed advisable and said that first he desired to know what the Board expected of him in the way of supervising and teaching. That he had his own ideas on the subject but wanted to be guided by the opinion of the Board. The subject was generally discussed. The Board was about a unit that the principal should visit all the other schools and should visit all the town schools should be so arranged to see how it would do and what time it would give for teaching and that when such schedule had been made or put into operation it would be altered to suit all circumstances.

Professor Burgoon then presented a schedule of how the schools would likely have to be made up in the coming year and as the number of pupils in the various schools changed it would result in a different assignment of teachers.

The first primary of over 60 pupils it was thought would be divided between Miss Rachel Scott and Miss Elvira Ruff and the entire second primary school of about 39 pupils would be given to Miss Grace Sachs. An entire third grade school would be given Mrs. Witherow and a fourth grade Mrs. Wible and a mixed third and fourth grade to Miss Rose Scott. An entire fifth grade to Miss Hattie McGrew and a sixth grade to Miss Blanche Benner, and a mixed fifth and sixth grade to Miss Annie Major. The grammar or seventh grade to Miss Mary Benner, and eighth to Miss Lizzie Rummel and a mixed seventh and eighth to Miss Ursula Sterner. The school directors were of the opinion that this division of the work was all right and it was decided that within a week the principal and Secretary Holtzworth would visit all the school rooms and if there was no reason in the way that the assignment of the schools should be made as above set out that the teachers would be notified of the same.

Prof. Burgoon advised that the school children ought to be gone over before the opening of school and located as to nearness of homes to the divided grades and that the list of scholars for such schools should be published a week before school opens and then a good beginning could be made at the opening of school. It was decided that his suggestion in this particular should be carried out.

Prof. Burgoon next advised that the general course be dropped or combined with the commercial so that there would be but two courses, a classical and a commercial. He said that this change would not result in dropping a single branch but would permit the adding of geometry to the commercial and otherwise strengthening the latter so to bring it up to the standard of a first-class High School. Prof. Burgoon said the purpose of his suggestions was not to eliminate anything but to strengthen, so that the High School could be rated as a first-class instead of second class and receive the increased bonus from the State. He believed this could be done within two years time. The State authorities had found that the classical course was up to the standard of a first-class High School but the commercial course was not up to the standard to be so ranked. The Board voted that there should be two courses in the High School, classical and commercial and agreed to adopt the suggestions of Prof. Burgoon to strengthen the commercial so that everything may be done to have the High School ranked as first-class.

In conclusion Prof. Burgoon recommended reports to be sent to parents every six weeks of the standing of the pupils that this placed teacher and parents in closer touch and Board decided to look into matter and were in favor of adopting such a system.

The tax duplicate for 1909 was approved and ordered to be placed in hands of tax collector.

A motion prevailed that a committee of three be appointed to decide how cement walks should be put down at the High School Building at the front of York and Hanover streets, and invite bids for the same. The Board seemed to be unanimous that cement pavements be put down on both York and Hanover streets from the eastern end of their frontage and be continued westwardly to a point where the Borough would build a crossing on both streets, opposite the walk to the entrance. That from such crossings to the point only a cement curb would be laid and the grounds would be graded and sodded. Messrs. Weaver, Holtzworth and Culp were named as the committee in charge of this work and are to go at it at once.

The improvements to the High street school building were discussed and it was recognized that this should be attended to speedily. It was expected to have Architect Stair look over building and make plans so that action could be taken on the matter at the next meeting fixed for Tuesday, July 13th.

As to High School.

Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, has been sending out communications to the Superintendents of counties on the subject of borough and township High Schools and the high standard required to secure state aid. High Schools of the first class receive $800, second class $600 and third class $400. In his communication Dr. Schaeffer says:

Out of the said amount hereby appropriated (the $15,000,000 appropriated for the support of the public schools and the normal schools), there shall be set apart the sum of $100,000 to aid in paying the tuition of pupils who attend high schools outside of their own districts; and the sum of $450,000 for the encouragement and support of township and borough high schools, including joint high schools maintained by two or more townships, or by a borough and one or more townships; but no high school shall receive appropriation as a high school of the first grade, unless it has at least three teachers who devote their entire time to high school work during a term of nine months; and no high school shall receive appropriation as a high school of the second grade, unless it has two teachers who devote their entire time to high school work during a period of eight months; nor shall any high school receive appropriation, unless it has a regular attendance of 12 pupils doing high school work.

In closing his communication Dr. Schaeffer says:

The appropriation in aid of high schools for the year ending June, 1909, will be distributed on the old basis, but the appropriation for the year beginning June, 1909, which will be distributed in September, 1910, will be subject to the conditions named in the foregoing extract from the general appropriation act. Instead of establishing or maintaining high schools with attendance of less than 12 pupils who have completed the grammar school work, to high schools in adjacent districts. Pupils who belong to the seventh and eighth grades can not be counted as pupils doing high school work.

David M. Wolf to Leave Town.

It is to be greatly regretted that Gettysburg is going to lose one of its most enterprising young business men, one who has not only been very successful in his own business but who has been identified with many enterprises of the town.

David M. Wolf, a member of the firm of J. George Wolf Son, youngest son of the late J. George Wolf has purchased the interest of John A. Barraman in the Canton Lumber Company of Baltimore. This interest is a one-fourth interest. Mr. Wolf has been chosen the manager of the Company and will take the position as soon as all arrangements can be made to leave Gettysburg.

The firm of J. George Wolf sons has been one of the most successful firms in Gettysburg and David M. Wolf has been its active manager for many years. Under his management it has added a number of properties to the plant, the coal yard, the Sheds and Codori properties on Stratton Street, and its business has been constantly increased. Mr. Wolf has been a Director in the Citizens Trust Company of Gettysburg since its organization. He was a member of the land company buying the Old Orphans home property, the Culp farm and other real estate around town. He has always been progressive as a business man. He was one of the leading members in St. James Lutheran Church.

Last week Mr. Wolf disposed of his home on Baltimore Street to Horace W. Crouse for $6000.

The Canton Lumber Company is one of the largest lumber concerns in Baltimore and since its organization about eight years ago has built up a very large and paying business, and that the Company will be a gainer by the energetic business qualifications that Mr. Wolf will devote to it, is a foregone conclusion.

AUTO AND TROLLEY COLLIDE

AT THE RAILROAD CROSSING IN THE VALLEY OF DEATH.

Wm. McCleary, Acting as Guide, Jumped and Had Three of His Ribs Broken.

On Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock at the point where the battlefield avenue crosses the tracks of the Gettysburg Transit Company in the Valley of Death near Devil's Den, a large automobile and one of the trolley cars met in a disastrous collision. The car was on the way to the hill and had slowed down to take the switch at Devil's Den and was right beyond the switch crossing the avenue when a large car was seen to come down the avenue from Little Round Top. They were almost two hundred feet apart when first seen.

Mr. Wallace Emmans was the motor-man on the car and he immediately stopped and began to reverse his car. The automobile was coming down hill at a very rapid pace and the chauffeur evidently lost his head in face of the impending collision, as his gear was found on high speed. He tried to escape the inevitable smash by swerving to the right and crashed into a big rock at that point.

The running board of the automobile caught the running board of the trolley car and both were smashed into splinters and a panel of the side of the car was ripped open. The rock tore the running board of the automobile on the other side and tore off and jammed one of the front wheels so that it was a wreck.

W. W. Macfarlane of Chester was the owner of the automobile and it was occupied by four persons, Mr. Macfarlane, his daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Longacker, all of Chester, all of whom were uninjured and left town for their home on a afternoon train on the Reading.

William McCleary was acting as guide of the party and was standing on the running board. He made an attempt to jump near the point of collision and was thrown with such force against the trolley car that three of his ribs were broken and his back injured.

George Eberhart was soon on the ground and put another wheel on the automobile and towed the auto to town. Much of the machinery was uninjured.

Retail Merchants' Meeting.

The Retail Merchants held one of their best meetings on last Friday evening as far as attendance was concerned. At the close of the evening by the records twenty-seven merchants had paid their initiation dues of two dollars and there were nineteen of them present at the meeting. Many other business men signed the papers in favor of the organizing of the association and the town has not yet been canvassed as it will be and the indications are good that by far the greater number of our business men will become charter members, as the list for same will be open to Sept. 1. After that date the initiation fee will be advanced to $5.00.

After the minutes of previous meeting had been read the first business of the association was the matter of a permanent financial secretary. The applicants reported by the committee were Willis Applier, G. L. Kieffer and Jesse Snyder. Other names were mentioned, one to be withdrawn and another was willing to serve if wanted, but did not care to go into a balloting contest. The names mentioned were placed in nomination and a ballot was taken and G. L. Kieffer was declared elected. The annual salary to begin with was fixed at $75.

Mr. Kieffer has been living in Gettysburg for some years attending Gettysburg College and during the summer working at the Pitzer House and lecturing at the Gettysburg Lecture Bureau. He graduated from college in June and will attend Seminary during the next three years and at the same time following his business as battlefield guide. He has been giving his battlefield lecture free to visitors in the room in the First National Bank Building, since opened by the Gettysburg Lecture Bureau.

The association passed a resolution to pay the way of Mr. Kieffer to Hanover to give him an opportunity to go over the work of a Merchant's Retail Association with the financial secretary of that place.

An invitation was read inviting the merchants to close their stores on August 19 and attend the annual picnic of the Hanover Merchant's Association at Eichelberger Park that day. The Littlestown merchants had practically unanimously voted to close to go to the picnic. New Oxford merchants will likely do the same. It was decided to get more of an expression from our merchants on the subject, that while the invitation to attend would be accepted by many, the matter of closing the stores was something to be decided only after the views of all the merchants had been learned.

A Fine Cement Pavement.

C. Wm. Beales has built a fine cement pavement in front of his residence on Carlisle street. It is six feet in width with cement walk at two points into the house and yard and cement curb and gutter, and the space about the trees has been sodded. The entire appearance is fine and most attractive and makes as convenient a walk as can be desired in the residential portion of the town. Mr. Beales has added greatly to his property in painting it white, everyone admiring in declaring that it does not look like the same property and has added much to the appearance of the street. Mr. Beales and family have moved into the property.

Think how beautiful Carlisle street would look if on both sides cement pavements were put down similar to one erected by Mr. Beales. It is a commendation to be looked forward to.

A Chance to Go After.

The chance to secure a permanent National Guard encampment are calls for disinterested citizenship and prompt action by Gettysburg people and those living in the vicinity.

The Military Board of the State is open for propositions and will inspect sites offered. There will be no bids asked by advertisement. The law has been passed for a permanent division camping grounds. Propositions offered will be examined and decision reached by the Military Board subject to approval of the Governor.

One point specially should be kept in mind and assurance from the highest authority has been received, that the best price to be paid for any land will be $100 an acre, that this will not be an average price, but that this price has been fixed by the statute and could not be exceeded for a single acre.

Not less than 300 or 500 acres will be wanted. Nearness to railroad and a water supply, parade ground, etc., will enter into the availability of land. Land owners who do not have sufficient land should join with neighboring land owners so that a complete site is offered.

Gettysburg has been proclaimed again and again as the best site upon which a division ever camped and sites that have been occupied should be among those offered as altogether fitting requirements and any other available sites should also be offered. Unless formal offers are made the same will not be considered and only such sites as are offered will be considered.

The encampment has been a business proposition that should make every citizen get on the jump to do his utmost to secure a permanent site here. There should be no antagonisms as to one site over another. Offer as many as possible and let a liberal citizenship rule in the offer and then let every one work—not for a particular site but for Gettysburg.

Fastest Mile Trotted in County.

The Gettysburg Driving Club gave a most successful matinee on Monday afternoon at their grounds west of the town. A large crowd was present estimated at between 500 and 600 persons and they were treated to the exhibition of Adams county horses making the fastest mile ever made in the county.

Dillon Queen, b. m., with a record of 2:11 1-4, and Helen H. b. m., with a record of 2:12 1-4, both from the Buttonwood Stock Farm, were put on exhibition in mile heats. They went the course in the finest shape, making the fastest mile ever made in the county. In the first heat Dillon Queen won and second heat Helen H. The time in first heat for first half mile was 1:05 1-4, for second half mile 1:05, for the mile 2:10 1-4. Second heat first half mile was made in 1:06 1-2 and second in 1:05, for the mile 2:11 1-2. Those who witnessed the event were enthusiastic over the performance and declared that both horses will be able to clip off a few more seconds from the record.

The result in other races was as follows:

CLASS B—Half Mile Heats.
Lyle Harry, b. s., Ben Kindig 1 1

State Roads.

There will be little "Good Roads" built in Adams county by the State Highway Department at Harrisburg within the next two years. An inquiry addressed the Department has revealed the fact that all appropriations made in the past will be exhausted in the building of the Arendtsville and Biglerville road.

The only available funds in the hands of the Highway Department is from the authorized appropriation of the last legislature, the share of Adams county being slightly less than $25,000 and only one-half of the same is available this year and the other half next year. There are two applications before the Department now, one of which would exhaust this appropriation. Menallen township has an application in for another piece of road. Conewago township has applied for a road about three miles in length from McSherrystown out past Conewago Chapel, and when it has been decided which road will be undertaken it will be useless for any other applications to be made for good roads until the next legislature has made necessary appropriations.

Old Home Week at Emmitsburg.

The four days of July 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th, will be celebrated by the good citizens of Emmitsburg as Old Home Week and extensive preparations are being made for the occasion. Governor A. L. Crothers and ex-Governor Edwin Warfield of Maryland have both promised to be present during the occasion. Baseball games and parades have been planned, new features each day. A twenty acre field between the town and St. Joseph's Academy will be used for events too big for the town.

The Citizens Band of Gettysburg has been chosen to furnish a large part of the music of the celebration. On opening day, July 13th, the band will give a concert, morning and evening. On Wednesday they will give concerts and take part in the Fraternal Orders Parade. The championship baseball game between Frederick and Westminster will come off on that day, and it is expected that Wednesday will be the biggest day of the week. Thursday and Friday will see parades and other events.

Arch of Triumph Located.

General St. Clair Mulholland, Judge Charles McKenna and George P. Morgan, comprising the executive committee of the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Commission to erect the $150,000 memorial authorized by State of Pennsylvania, visited Gettysburg last Saturday. They came here to consult with the Gettysburg Battlefield Park Commissioners as to the exact site of the triumphal arch to be erected. There had been some discussion whether the arch could not be so placed as to face in a kind of a way on both Hancock and Pleasanton Avenues, but at the meeting on Saturday it was concluded that it would be much better to squarely face the avenue and it was decided to place it so as to face Hancock Avenue.

The contractor has been on the ground at different times and preparations are being made to vigorously push forward the work of building the memorial.

Sedgwick Statue

Governor George L. Lilley has approved the resolution, making an appropriation of $25,000 for an Equestrian Statue of Major General John Sedgwick to be erected on the battlefield of Gettysburg. The bill authorized a commission of five, with the Governor as chairman.

The members of the commission who will have charge of the erection of the statue have been chosen as follows: Charles H. Pine of Derby, Chas. F. Lindeley of Meriden, O. R. Fyler of Torrington, Deright C. Kilbourn of Litchfield and Rockwell Harnen Potter of Hartford.

Joined Coast Artillery.

Gettysburg has contributed three young men to the regular forces of Uncle Sam. William Long son of Capt James T. Long, Samuel Cassat son of David Cassat and Maurice Ridinger son of S. D. Ridinger have joined the U. S. Coast Artillery and have been assigned to Fort Slocum, New York. Gettysburg enjoys the distinction of furnishing more young men to the army and navy of the U. States than any other town of its size in the country. In fact its record is equal to towns three times its size.

Almost Asphyxiated.

George Trimmer, while at work at the Gettysburg Gas Company last Thursday was overwhelmed by an explosion of gas. He was at work cleaning the purifiers when the explosion released the three sheets of gas in the large tank. Mr. Trimmer was found unconscious in the plant by Harvey McCleary, who works at the W. M. R. R. Mr. McCleary carried Mr. Trimmer into the open air and he regained consciousness and at the end of several hours was well enough to go back to work.

Held for Court

Tom Kelly, nicknamed Irish Tom, was arrested last week on the charge of vagrancy and after several witnesses had testified before Justice Hill that he had begged money of them, he was committed to jail for trial at Aug. Court.

Harry Little was arrested on charge of assault and battery on son of J. W. Heagy, the alleged assault being striking the boy with a cane, and after hearing before Justice Hill, Little gave bail in $300 for his appearance at the August Court.

CEMENT PAVEMENTS.
The Compiler in recent issues has been talking cement pavements to take the place of the lot of miserable stumbling block brick pavements which are now endured by a long suffering public.

A number of our citizens realizing the need of better pavements have begun to put down cement. Irvin Kelly last week placed a fine cement pavement in front of his property on Chambersburg street.

The cement pavement built by Wm. H. Johns covering a quarter of a mile along the Emmitsburg road has been added to by a cement pavement in front of the Young property on Steinwehr avenue.

Joseph Matthews is putting down a cement pavement along his property on South Washington street.

Keep the good work going, and it should be started down in the central portion of the town, where the pavements are used most and where they are sorely needed at many points.

Why don't the Borough Fathers make a beginning in the Square. The borough taxes are being paid. Give the people the benefit of some of this money with cement pavement around the Square. Do it now. Don't wait until the tax receipts are spent when there will be the convenient excuse of low funds. See to it that out of each year's taxes some permanent improvement is given the town, in addition to paying current expenses.

Normal Graduates.

There were several Adams county scholars in the graduating class of the West Chester State Normal School, the commencement being held last week. Two were honored in being among those who made addresses, Clyde H. Lady of Arendtsville having for his subject "Pennsylvania's Coat-of-Arms" and Miss Mary Muriel Tyson of Flora Dale, on "Two Great Interpreters."

The graduates were the following:

Merle W. Asper took a part of his Normal School course at Shippensburg coming here for his Senior year only. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Asper of York Springs. Clyde H. Lady has had two years' experience in teaching in Adams County. His home is in Arendtsville where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram C. Lady, reside. Mr. Lady has been a prominent member of the Moore Literary Society during his student life, serving as its president for a term and being a member of the debating team which won honors from Lock Haven last year. His strong line is mathematics. Mr. Lady has been elected principal of schools, Ebensburg, Cambria county, at a salary of $1100.

M. Muriel Tyson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Tyson, of Flora Dale, will teach at Malvern, salary $50, term nine months.

John G. Wilson has followed the calling of clerk, but hopes now to take up teaching. His home is in Bigler-ville, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Wilson, reside.

Miss Carrie V. Wilt is from Hampton. She has been a normal school student for three years, having formerly attended the rural schools of her home locality. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wilt of Hampton.

one from each of the some twenty Lutheran congregations represented in the league; recording secretary, Miss Jane Oyster; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John F. Dapp; treasurer, Mrs. Lewis C. Manges; chairman of programme committee, Miss Anna Schlayer; membership committee, Miss Bertha Meyer. At the meeting yesterday it was decided to hold four meetings annually, the next to be held October 31.

Western Visitors.

John H. Gates a former school teacher of this county, who has been in the employ of the Standard Oil Co., at Chicago, Ill., for many years, returned to the home of his mother near New Oxford some weeks ago on account of ill health and his many friends will be pleased to learn that he is rapidly recovering.

Mr. Gates and daughter accented to join him here shortly after his arrival, and were prevented from doing so on account of an accident which happened the former. She was assisting at house-cleaning at their Chicago home when in some manner she was thrown from a chair and striking across the back thereof, had several ribs fractured, one arm severely sprained and other minor injuries. They are expected to arrive the latter part of this week. Mrs. Gates is also a former Adams county lady—a Miss Johnson of the vicinity of McSherrystown.

An Odd Will.

One of the oddest wills ever probated is that of George W. Hoffman, who died in Mt. Joy township on 19th of January of this year. The will is written on the fly leaf of one of these memoranda books furnished by the banks. After writing in his name and address and that in the event of his death his wife Mrs. Agnes Hoffman, or P. W. Epley on adjoining farm should be notified, and after stating that he weighed 160 lbs and that his height was 5 ft. 10 inches and his age 60 years on Feb. 22, 1898 and size of hat 6-7-8 and collar 14-1-2 or 15 and shoes 10 the testamentary clause is inserted "My will is estate to be equally divided 1-2 to wife Agnes 1-2 to Ref'd Church May 15, 1899. George W. Hoffman."

After this will was made, about two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman made a deed for two farms to the Reformed church for the purpose of an orphanage. The will can not alter this provision but will control the disposition of a personal estate amounting to about $4000.

Lutheraa Pen-Mar Reunion.

The committee having in charge the date and arrangements for the Lutheran Pen-Mar Reunion met at the Eagle Hotel, this place last week.

Reports from all over the field point to the success of the reunion this year to be held Thursday, July 22. The committee also approved the program, which will include prominent speakers from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia.

The York reunion choir, under the direction of Professor Alfred Heuter, was requested to have charge of all the choral parts of the program. The Pen-Mar orchestra, consisting of professional musicians from Baltimore, will furnish half an hour of special music, and have especially arranged parts in the program.

The Rev. Charles A. Heathcote was appointed to invite all the Lutheran colleges to be present, together with their alumni, to hold their reunions at the same time and place.

Young Men Fought Civil War.

Many persons wonder that there are almost half a million surviving soldiers of the Civil War, considering that it is 48 years since it began and 44 since it ended. The reason lies in the fact that it was a young man's war, as the following official statistics as to the age of men enlisted will show:
At the age of 10 and under 25
At the age of 12 and under 225
At the age of 14 and under 1,523
At the age of 16 and under 844,801
At the age of 18 and under 1,151,438
At the age of 21 and under 2,150,798
At the age of 22 and over 618,516
These figures include re-enlistments as there were almost two millions, but it can easily be seen that this was practically a boys' war, since only a small percentage were 22 years and over, and these must, to a large extent, have enlisted previously. It is estimated that if the year 1863 be taken as a starting point, since it was the middle of the war, the average age of the soldier was about 22 years, which would make him 68 at the present. That is a fair age, but not old by any means, and it ought to be remembered that those who served through a campaign and came out fit showed a virility which indicated a promise of living beyond the normal.—Phila. Inquirer.

Two Auto Cases.

The Supreme Court has refused to allow an appeal in the auto damage case of Spangler vs. Markley from the decision of the Superior Court, which means that it is up to the defendant to pay the verdict of the jury.

The Supreme Court in the case in which Franklin county in which Miss Kauffman was given damages of $4,666.95 against T. M. Nelson, Sr., handed down an opinion last week reversing the court below and granting a new trial.

Odd Names in China.

Chinese children are endowed with strange Christian names. Their girls, for instance, are not called Mabel, Jenny or Matilda, but Cloudy Moon, Celestial Happiness, Spring Peach or Basket of Perfumes. Their boys get less attractive names, being made for work and wisdom rather than pleasure and dancing. Thus we find a little two-year-old Practical Industry; three-year-old Ancestral Knowledge; four-year-old, Complete Virtue; five-year-old, Discreet Valor. To their slaves they give still another set of names. Not For Me, Joy to Serve, Your Happiness and Humble Devotion may be taken as typical examples.

Harold Chose the Easier Way.

Maynard had been naughty, and his father, after showing him his fault, had sent him up to his room to ask God to forgive him for being a bad boy. Three-year-old Harold was present, but seemed to take no notice of the conversation. It was his turn, however, before many days to receive punishment and his father took him across his knee. "Oh, don't, papa," he said. "I would rather go upstairs and pray."—Delineator.

John's Great Loss.

"For goodness' sake, Harriet, why so sad?"
"The cook's left, but that isn't the worst of it. She took with her the recipe book for all the things John's mother used to make."—Brooklyn Life.

Not His Hat.

Principal—Johnnie, I'm surprised that your French is so weak. Now, think. Chapeau—what is that? What does your father throw up when he's merry? Johnnie—His job, sir.—London Tit-Bits.

Coal and Optimism.

Someone has defined the pessimist as a man who, of two evils, chooses both. says a writer in July "Success Magazine." If we are to believe the pessimist, life on this planet is not worth living, and, anyway, the planet is not going to last. Soon the food of the world will give out, and we shall all starve, and the only hope that the pessimists grant us is that we shall all freeze before that time, because of the grasping Coal Trust and the exhaustion of the coal supply.

We do not take much stock in pessimists and do not waste our time in listening to them. We always find that the inevitable evil never happens, and somehow the human race does not starve, freeze, or kill itself off, but manages to get out of more scrapes than it ever ought to have gotten into. And recently our optimism has been wonderfully bolstered up by a report of the Geological Survey.

That report tells us that there are still two thousand billions of tons of unmined coal in the United States, worth more, at seven cents a ton, than all our National possessions; enough, at our present rate of consumption, to last five thousand years and a great many years more. Decidedly, we shall not soon freeze.

The wonderful thing about this is the boundless, measureless generosity of Nature. She is like the fairy god-mother who gives whatever we ask. Let us use up one of her gifts, and we stumble upon another. When the English exhausted their forests, a new fuel, coal, was discovered. The coal had always been there; only the knowledge of it and of its use was new. When, finally, the coal bed is depleted, we shall doubtless draw our heat and our power from the waves of the sea, from the sunlight, from forces undreamed of, but which exist, even now, before our unseeing eyes. It is not Nature which is narrow and cramped, but our own minds.

Has Lockjaw.

Lawrence Emlet, aged about 25 yrs., living near New Chester, is suffering with lockjaw, and is in a critical condition. About three weeks ago he accidentally split the big toe of his left foot with an axe, while cutting wood. A few days after severe pains followed when Dr. Spatz of Hampton was sent for, but notwithstanding all that medical skill could do, lockjaw ensued. His condition is serious.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Gettysburg women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Gettysburg woman's words:

Mrs. John Menchey, 46 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I have always been nervous and in poor health and recently when an attack of kidney trouble came on, I was unable to work. I suffered from severe pains in my back and I also had chills. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box at the People's drug store. They restored my health and I am now in a better condition than before in a long time. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for this improvement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

THOMAS M'KEAN—1793-1808.

Thomas McKean was born in 1734 in Londonderry, Chester county. He was admitted to practice law before he became of age. His first public office was that of clerk of the assembly. Mr. McKean was a member of the Colonial congress of 1765 and of the Continental congress of 1776 and was one of the committee which drew up the articles of confederation. He signed the Declaration of Independence. During the Revolutionary war he served as a colonel. A member of the Delaware constitutional convention, he accomplished the remarkable feat of preparing a constitution which was unanimously adopted by the convention. Mr. McKean was chief justice of Pennsylvania for twenty-two years, having been appointed in 1777. In the same year he was elected president of Delaware, continuing meanwhile to represent the latter state in congress. He was elected governor of Pennsylvania by the Democratic party and served for three terms. He died June 24, 1817.

THE JULY MAGAZINES*THE MOST ACTIVE PROTESTANT CHURCH IN AMERICA.

Big Pay for Traveling Salesmen—
And Many Other Interesting
Subjects Fill the Pages.

After discussing the type of religious institutions, as exemplified by the McAuley Mission, who attempt to "lift men from the gutter," Ray Stannard Baker writing in the July "American Magazine," speaks of the other kind of organization which attempts to remove the "gutter." A church of this type is Christ Church, of which Mr. Baker says:

"Christ Church is affiliated with and supported largely by the Brick Presbyterian Church, one of the most notable of the rich churches of the Fifth Avenue district. It is on the West Side of New York City, in Thirty-sixth Street near Eighth Avenue, in a neighborhood occupied exclusively by wage-earners, clerks, and small shopkeepers, largely German by extraction, with, recently, a rapid incrowing of a poorer population of Italians and Negroes.

"I think no one could visit either the church house on a week day, or see the Sunday School on Sunday with eight hundred children in attendance, without being greatly impressed. There is life here! The church is open all day long—open longer than the public schools, and more days in the week—but not open as long as the saloons and nickle theatres, cigar stores and candy parlors, which are to be found in numbers everywhere. A schedule of activities in the entrance hall gives one an impressive idea of how the days are filled and the variety and extent of the work attempted. Two large kindergartens are held in the morning for some ninety children. Other children and young people are organized in clubs and classes which meet at various hours during the week. Instruction is given in carpentry, sewing, cooking, typewriting and basketry. A boys' cadet corps is drilled regularly. To provide for an amusement which human nature will have (in the saloon, if not in the church) there are billiard tables, a bowling alley, a shooting gallery, a gymnasium and bath, and a room for games. In the summer, excursions to the country are constantly being organized. A considerable library is provided and the hood. The McAlpin literary society and the Glee Club give plays and other entertainments, including social dances.

"A catalogue of activities such as this seems dry enough and it cannot, of course, convey a cheerful spirit of association and helpfulness that pervades the work. The church provides an outlet into the finer and pleasanter things of life for an over-worked people whose low wages and poor homes give them few opportunities. It gets them together, it lets them see something of the people from uptown and better than that, it lets the people from uptown see something of them; it tends to awaken that sympathy between man and man which is the fundamental note of democracy."

Big Pay For Traveling Salesman

There is an increasing tendency, on the part of big wholesale and jobbing houses, to introduce variations of the profit sharing plan. Here is the system by which one of the largest shoe houses in America gives a special incentive to its traveling salesmen. The force is classified according to the volume of sales delivered, as follows:

Salesmen shipping $50,000 to $75,000 Class "C."
Salesmen shipping $75,000 to $100,000, Class "B."
Salesmen shipping $100,000 to $125,000, Class "A."

Salesmen shipping $125,000 to $150,000, Class "A1."
Salesmen shipping $150,000 to $200,000, Class "AA1."
Salesmen shipping $200,000 to $300,000, Class "AA1."
Salesmen shipping above $300,000, Diamond.

When a salesman lifts himself by increased sales from one class to another he is awarded a bonus according to the following schedule:
Class "C"—$750, Class "B"—$1,500; Class "A"—$2,000; Class "A1"—$2,500; Class "AA1"—Classes "AA1" and "Diamond"—$5,000 each.

Under this stimulus one man made $5,000 in bonus money for two years in succession. In those same two years the house paid to four men, in the same state, $22,500 in bonus awards. The house claims that it is the only one which made an advance in sales during the panic months beginning with October, 1907, and attributes this progress under the financial depression almost wholly to its system of indirect profit-sharing.

As indicating the possible earnings of a commercial traveler in a staple line, it may be said that the "Diamond" salesmen of this house each made, in 1907, a net earning of $15,000. There are probably more big earners among clothing salesmen than in any other line; here the man who does not end the year with $5,000 clean-up is not accounted a success; there are scores of clothing salesmen who receive $10,000 net a year; a very respectable number are in the $15,000 class and there is said to be at least one—and perhaps there are three or four—whose earning capacity is measured by the formidable figure of $20,000.

Other salesmen of staples whose earnings are of almost sensational dimensions are the "star" men in the teas and fine silks. It is said that some of these earn $25,000 and $30,000 a year, but this is not given as authentic.—Forrest Crissey, in the July "Everybody's."

How Veils are Worn in Turkey.

In Turkey the use of the veil varies in severity according to the locality, and also according to the class and character of the husband. A lady of the middle class is far more strict than one of the aristocratic harem; the country-woman, on the other hand, veils herself very lightly, as do also the Egyptian fellahs; old women and those who are ill-favored veil themselves with the yashmak (elegant veil), which, artfully concealing the features, gives them the beauty of mystery. Young women, and particularly the pretty ones, veil themselves but lightly; the coquettes, as might be expected, just enough to serve their purpose.

Offensive as it may appear, to womanly dignity, the Moslem veil possesses a peculiar charm. That a woman should hide her action a piquant strangeness and clothes her with all the poetry of mystery. Nothing can be more delightfully amusing than to see mites of femininity, eleven, twelve and thirteen years of age, in whom the young lady is beginning to awaken, cover their faces with a light muslin with the insouciance of innocents or the comic gravity of children combined with the budding modesty of maidens. At the age of twelve or thirteen the girl ceases her comradeship with her boy friends, and is duly secluded with the older women of her father's house. Of this separation of the sexes the veil is the visible sign.

with women jailers. In the streets of the Turkish quarter in Constantinople (Turkish for Constantinople) one hears in the early morning the cries of hawk boys on the doors of the houses and rough voices crying "Sakal" (the milkman), "Bakkal" (the baker), "Ekmekci" (the baker). Each door opens a little hand slips out and takes the lug of milk, the piece of sugar, the bread that is brought, for it is generally forbidden for Turkish women to go shopping at the market—N. C. New U. S. A. Mounted Service School.

For the purpose of instruction one hundred and eighty horses are kept at the new U. S. A. Mounted Service School at Fort Riley, Kan. These are of various breeds and classes—jumpers, trained buckers, well-schooled horses, untrained colts, and polo ponies. A troop of the Tenth Cavalry, colored soldiers, furnishes the necessary grooms. It is found that these colored men make better grooms for the high-class school horses than do the average enlisted men of white regiments. They like their work and stay longer.

For the first two months the student is put on a thoroughly trained horse in order that he may comprehend what such a horse is and have a model to work up to. The trained animal also shows up faults of horsemanship, which the instructor and the rider can both take account of and gradually correct. During this time he also rides daily a well-trained jumper for the same reasons. This work is all done in the riding hall, using the English saddle, mostly without stirrups and changing horse each day. It is of course to be understood that these officers are already fair riders. War Department orders direct that only officers of special aptitude be selected for Fort Riley, as it is a place, not where officers learn to ride, but rather where good riders are formed into accomplished horsemen and useful instructors.

At the end of two months each man is given a colt to train, and this may be said to constitute his most important work for the year; upon the results obtained his horsemanship is largely judged and his place in the class determined; but more important to the service at large is the fact that through this instruction a correct and uniform method of training remounts is assured to the whole army.—From "The New Army School of Horsemanship," by Major T. Bentley Mott, U. S. A., in the July Scribner.

The Tendency to be Queer.

While the majority of people are inclined to think and act like one another, thus keeping the social order from violent convulsions, there is on the part of a great many a native tendency toward the queer; they are contented only outside of the traces. In every community small enough to be aware of its own individualities people in general know who are the "natural-born" come-outers—which man and which woman is likely to take up with the newest fad in dress, doctoring, means of grace, political economy, "social science," and the true authorship of Shakespeare's plays.

There are certain persons destined to progress from one so-called reform to another more extreme as quickly as the reform shows itself. They are pretty sure to box the compass of religions, passing by gradual or violent stages from absolute irreligion to the narrowest dogmatism, or with great rapidity the other way around. Or they gravitate once and for all into the most irrational and absurd "religion" which happens to be forced upon their attention, and stick contentedly to its extremest tenets and practices. The more "occult" and to the ordinary mind, preposterous the new religion, the greater the attraction it has for certain minds. The new religion is apt to be founded on some one phase of the old—a phase of it which by very reiteration and use has become trite. In its new and fantastic dress the old principle strikes the new adept as something in the nature of a fresh revelation.

As for the realm of healing, here all that is inconsequential and superstitious in the human mind is flagrantly revealed. Here every human being defends his right to experiment for himself and to give advice to others. We do not, or at least most of us do not, feel quite free to instruct and direct our neighbors continually in things spiritual; but in the matter of health and disease we all assert freedom of practice and of prescription. To such an extent is this tendency toward universal specialization that the strong hand of the law has to be called in and only under penalties may Tom, Dick, Harry and Harriet hang out his or her shingle as a competent practitioner for the cure of all human ailments. The tendency is nearly universal, but even here some more than others take instinctively to the preposterous.—From an editorial in the July "Century."

Protecting Fish.

Three cans of black bass were released in the Little Conowago Creek last week. The authorities seem determined in their effort to protect the fish in Big and Little Conowago, as it is said that there are five or six fish wardens patrolling those creeks.

Mr. Fossler was 70 years old and a native of Frederick, though he had lived in Baltimore for many years. ## In Memoriam.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear wife and our mother, Mrs. Jacob Hare, who died one month ago in Fairfield.

Farewell mother you have left us,
To the earth to struggle on,
Midst the scenes of doubt and danger
That on every hand abound;
But your words of wise direction,
And your tender loving care,
For the conflict have prepared us—
Weapons true, and tried and rare.
—By her Husband and Children.

MARRIAGES.

FOX—TROSTLE—A beautiful wedding took place at the home of the bride in York Springs on Tuesday of last week June 29 when Miss Anna Eliza Trostle, only daughter of Associate Judge and Mrs. George H. Trostle and Robert Eastburn Fox of Haddonfield, N. J. were united in marriage. The parlor was handsomely decorated with palms, ferns and daisies. Promptly at high noon to the strains of Lohegrin wedding march by Mrs. E. R. Ammon of Reading, the bridal party descended the stairs and advanced to the bower of green where Rev. Stanley Bilheimer joined them in the bonds of matrimony with the ring ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Stella Trostle, of Arendtsville, a cousin of the bride. Samuel Fox, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. The bride was given away by her father. The bride was attired in a princess gown of white crepe de chene over white tulle and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, Matthews of Gettysburg, being the caterer. The bridal party left about four o'clock for Harrisburg in Charles E. Trostle's automobile taking the train at the latter place for Lake George and other points after which they will go to Haddonfield, N. J., where a furnished house awaits them and where the groom follows the occupation of agent for the Provident Life Insurance Co.

NACE—KRABER—At the home of her parents, at Hampton, Adams Co., at high noon Saturday, July 3, Miss Laura V. Kraber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kraber, became the bride of William H. #### W. M. Receivership Ends Oct. 1st

The receivership of the Western Maryland railroad will be terminated on October 1, on which date it is planned to return the company to its directors with compulsory fixed charges reduced approximately $700,000.

The announcement that the reorganization committee had decided to levy an assessment of forty per cent, or $20 a share, on the stock, created lively interest both in Baltimore and Wall street financial circles, and it is understood that pressure from influential interests is being brought to bear with a view of having the amount reduced to thirty per cent., or $15 a share. What the committee will do in view of the protest is, of course, problematical, though it was learned from a reliable source that some of the members of the committee are not unfavorable to acceding to the request.

It is understood that the underwriting syndicate, which will be formed to guarantee the payment of the assessment to be levied for the purpose of raising the cash requirements of reorganization, will be composed of some of the most powerful banking interests in the United States, including the so-called Rockefeller institutions.

It is regretted on all sides that the reorganization committee will be unable to carry through the plan to merge the Wheeling and Lake Erie and the Wabash-Pittsburg terminal lines with the Western Maryland at this time, but it is understood that this project will be consummated later.

The main features of the reorganization have been worked out and the plan will be promulgated within thirty days.

The Wheat Crop

Much of the wheat has been cut, and around Gettysburg a few fields have been heard of not quite ripe enough for the binder. It is said that the farmers are going to have a bumper crop of straw. The heads of the wheat seem large and well filled, and those who should know are confident that the crop will be one of the best the ground has raised for years with higher average to the acre. No wheat had been threshed and hauled to the warehouses prior to yesterday, when William Bigham brought a load to town disposing of the same to J. Geo. Wolf & Sons, at $1.10.

Abbotstown Robbery.

While Mr. and Mrs. William Emlet of Abbotstown, were attending the funeral of their nephew, Charles Emlet, at New Chester, thieves entered their dwelling and ransacked the house from cellar to garret, turning things topsy turvy. Among the articles taken were Mr. Emlet's watch, revolver, a few articles of clothing and some money among which were a number of old coins. The theft was committed between dusk and 10 o'clock as the occupants returned home at the latter hour and discovered the state of affairs.

FARMERS SHOULD WATCH

FOR YOUNG SAN JOSE SCALE NOW APPEARING.

The Difficulties in Fighting the Scale is Explained in Detail—Other Subjects.

State Zoologist Surface is calling attention to the fact that the young of the San Jose Scale are just commencing to appear. They are sulfur or lemon yellow in color, and resemble fine grains of corn meal. They crawl for the first day or two, and then fix themselves forever by sinking their long, thin, needle-like tongues into the tissue of the plant. They never afterward let loose nor be scraped off without being killed by so doing; therefore it is during their young and free-moving existence only that they are carried from plant to plant, excepting when on wood that is to grow again, such as young trees or cuttings.

While young they are delicate and easily killed by mild contact applications, such as soap or kerosene, or a strong solution of soap or kerosene, or an eight per cent. kerosene emulsion. As soon as fixed they commence to secrete a waxy covering, which gradually thickens and protects them. Therefore, the younger they are when the contact sprays are applied, the more readily they can be destroyed. Being sucking insects, rather than chewing, arsenical poisons do not affect them.

The great difficulty in fighting the San Jose Scale is that the young do not all appear at once, but a number are born each day continually for about a month, and these grow rapidly and soon commence likewise to produce by bearing living young. This makes the total annual increase appear almost incredible, amounting to over three billion in one season.

The parent is so well protected by the hard shell that nothing but strong contact sprays will kill it, and if such sprays be applied when the plants are in leaf the foliage will be destroyed. To kill all the young the trees should be sprayed at least twice per week for over a month to reach the limit of reproduction by the original parent.

The Rose Bug.

The rose bug is a common and familiar insect which attacks a great many cultivated plants, trees and bushes by devouring the foliage while in the adult stage. In regard to this pest, State Zoologist Surface says:

"It is not a 'bug' but a beetle, as it has chewing mouth parts and eats the tissue of the leaves, making them appear to be perforated with numerous holes with quite irregular edges. The larvae of this beetle live in the ground and there transform to the pupal or resting stage and remain over winter. Deep cultivation of the soil and other plants they infest is advisable. Growers should watch for the first coming of these beetles, and jar them from the branches on sheets saturated with oil stretched on the ground, or held to catch the pests; or into a hopper-shaped cloth bug-catcher. They can also be picked by hand, or shaken from the trees, bushes or plants and sprayed with pure kerosene or exceedingly strong soap solution, while on the ground. In dealing with them in this manner the leaves and plants will not be injured by the strong spray.

"To keep the 'bugs' from attacking the small and tender grapes on the vines, it is advisable to cover the bunches with paper bags as soon as possible after blossoming and setting of the fruit."

Drag Roads Any Month.

The road drag is like the manure spreader—in style any month of the year if the conditions are right for its use. Other machines are put in the shed to wait their season, but the road drag should always be ready to hitch to if we are to use it to the best advantage. The accepted time for the use of the drag is when the roads are drying up after the rains. It is surprising what an immense amount of good can be done roads in an hour at such a time. Enough dirt is brought in to keep the road well rounded up, the water is allowed to run off, and the mud is puddled and plastered down so that the surface is quickly dried and compacted ready to shed the next shower a little better. Some people seem to have a wrong conception of the time to drag. I have seen one of our trustees out earning (?) the township money after the roads had been dry a day or two. He seemed to think the mission of the drag was to fill up the ruts. At any rate, he would drive merrily along, leaving in some places hardly a track among the clods.

About the most satisfaction we ever realized from dragging the roads came from a job done in the mud just before the last freeze in the fall. How can you tell when to do it? Just guess at it and keep trying. If it thaws the next day there is no harm done. And when you do hit it you surely feel like a public benefactor as you watch the teams go gliding on your pavement to bring up on your neighbor's rough road. The spring is the time to use the road drag if you want to do some lasting good to the highway. The dirt is soft and easily worked then, and a few trips over the road with the drag, cleaning out the ditches and rounding up the surface, will do more good than a gang of men with the grader in the fall. The best job I ever did with the drag was to round up the track on a bad clay hill just as the frost was going out. That hill was good all summer.—C. J. Kelsey, in Homestead

DON'T BE MISLED.

Many a life has been cut short by a cough that was not believed to be serious. Many a backache and sideache follows a coughing spell. Many a night is passed in restlessness caused by coughing. Many a cough "cure" that never cures is tried. Do not be misled. If you cough, take the old reliable Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure. At druggists' and dealers', 25c.

Weston, Ocean-to-Ocean Walker, said recently: "When you feel down and out, feel there is no use living, just take your bad thoughts with you and walk them off. Before you have walked a mile things will look rosier. Just try it." Have you noticed the increase in walking of late in every community? Many attribute it to the comfort which Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes, gives to the millions now using it. As Weston has said, "It has real merit."

"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70 she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all remedies failed, till Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health." They invigorate all vital organs, cure Liver and Kidney troubles, induce sleep, impart strength and appetite. Only 50c at Peoples Drug Store.

Man With the Conundrum.

The man with the fretful eyebrows and the sorrowful ears comes to the desk of the man with the dispirited mustache and asks:

"Why is a man who goes on an expedition to discover the south pole and after many months of toil and privation during which he eats all his canned goods and half of his dogs and then returns to civilization with a fixed appetite for boot heels and hat brims—why is he like a woman who has been waiting impatiently since midnight for the sound of the latch-key as her husband endeavors to unlock the front door without awakening the entire neighborhood?"

The man with the discouraged mustache shakes his head impatiently, and the other repeats the question, whereupon the man with the discouraged mustache asks:

"What is the difference between a lady reading a hair restorer ad. and a man who asks fool questions when you are busy? Answer—Because they are both about ready to die."

"Oh, very well!" sniffs the man with the fretful eyebrows and the sorrowful ears. The answer to mine is that both are getting ready to deliver a lecture, but I wouldn't tell you if you pleaded with tears in your eyes."

And with a naughty tread he departs.—Chicago Post.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Men Past Fifty in Danger.

Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint." Sold by Peoples Drug Store.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infan-jum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by The Peoples Drug Store.

Boy's Life Saved

My little boy, four years old, had a severe attack of dysentery. We had two physicians; both of them gave him up. # THE REJECTED STORY

By MAUD MACMILLAN.
[Copyrighted, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.]

Some young ladies decide to "become literary" only after having given the matter as much as half a day's serious thought, but Miss Nina Harper saved eleven and a half hours by deciding within thirty minutes after reading a certain sketch of Ouida's.

As soon as pen and ink and paper could be procured she began work on a story, and before sunset on the same day it was finished and sent off to the waiting editor of a magazine.

Like Ouida, Miss Nina didn't start out to write for money. Her widowed mother had been left a fair competence. Like Ouida, she had a sudden desire to uplift sentiment and improve the social status of the world around her. Like Ouida again, she had thoughts and she wanted the millions to share those thoughts with her and profit by them.

This, in a way, was praiseworthy in a girl of twenty who had half a dozen admirers and nothing to do but to be entertaining and handsome and wait for the right man to touch her heart.
Unfortunately for her, the various publishers didn't share in her object or enthusiasm. They were out for the dollar instead of sentiment, or for the sentiment that brought in the dollars.
The literary effort was returned with thanks.

If that greedy publisher chuckled over the idea that he had nipped a literary career in the bud by sending back that manuscript he was very much mistaken. Some young ladies would have stopped right there and turned to crochet work, but Miss Nina didn't belong to that bunch. She shut her lips tightly and determined not to be killed off. At the same time she determined to kill that editor if ever opportunity offered.

In this determination she was backed
and encouraged by Fred Waterman, one of her admirers, to whom she showed the manuscript and related how it had been chucked back at her as if it had been copy for a family almanac. "Fred was a lipser in his speech, but that only made his voice
more tender as he said:

"Miss Harper, take my word for it that you have gone beyond Ouida ever in your first attempt! It is glorious!
It is grand! It is ennobling! I feel the better man for having heard it read."

"But they didn't publish it!" protested the girl.

"I see, but it was too high class,
don't you know. It's beyond the editor.
He isn't up to the sentiment of it."

This declaration mollified Miss Nina,
and she selected another publication and another editor. Mr. Waterman's generous offer to call on and punch
the head of the first editor was declined on the ground that the said editor might already have regretted his haste in returning the manuscript.

The story came back from the second publication just as a request for charity would have been returned—
"not just what we are looking for."
It hurt and humiliated, but it did not quench. Ouida's first delicious little sketches went begging. Miss Nina shed one tear, doubled up her fists and consulted Mr. Horace Elkins.

Mr. Elkins was another admirer, though he didn't lipser. He had on many occasions written the menu cards for entertainments and therefore was admired as a literary man.
He read the manuscript with the utmost care, looked at the back of each page as he laid it down and then announced his solemn verdict:

"My dear Miss Harper, it is grand!
It is a gem! Indeed, the only fault possible to be found is that it is too gemmy. The modern magazine editor is not up to it. It is as far beyond him as Shakespeare is beyond the average farmer's hired man. For no other reason was it returned to you.
What! A gem like this crowded among the unworkable love stories in which the heroines cannot talk ten words without making a grammatical blunder! Heaven forbid!"

"But if they won't publish it how can I get it before the people?" asked the author, with anxiety in her tones.
"I could call on those editors and call them ignoramuses and scoundrels.
I could prove to them that they were suppressing the brightest and most charming thoughts of the century."

"But that would anger them."

Mr. Elkins picked up the manuscript and carefully studied the backs of the pages again and then sighed and raised his eyes to heaven. He didn't say so in so many words, but his attitude plainly betokened that he was out of it.

Two days elapsed, and then the story was sent away again. There surely must be one editor in the country who could rise to the sentiment of it. In due time, which was about a week, it came back for the third time. There was a cold blooded type written notice inclosed to the effect that its rejection did not signify any lack of literary merit, but "there was no consolation in this. Indeed, if it did not lack literary merit, why not publish it?"

This question was asked of young Sanger, a "bird caller" and admirer
and he promptly replied:

"Because it is Ouida over again, and you know the jealousy against Ouida.
All these magazine editors are a trust
They won't permit a new writer to enter the field and make a reputation.
Why, Miss Harper, I once wrote story and sent it away and had it com-back on me twenty-four times. But for this jealousy I might have been a Wilkie Collins in time. Have I got the name right? Was it Wilkie or Tom Collins? Have you spoken to Mr.

Granger on the matter of the story?"

"Why, no! And that's funny, because I've heard that he was a literary man. He hasn't called here for two or three weeks, however."

"He is the editor of the very magazine that sent it back to you for the third time."

"Then—then—when he calls again!"—
And Miss Nina's eyes flashed, and she dashed up, and she didn't have to finish the sentence to make young Sanger understand that there would be something doing.

Mr. Granger had been an acquaintance and a caller for a year or more.
He had made a pleasant impression at least, and it he had not talked shop during his calls and brought in his literary connections it was a tribute to his sense and modesty.

Nothing more was to be done with the story until he called, but Miss Nina made a memorandum and kept it before her. It read:

"Never read another copy of the Magazine."

"When Mr. Granger calls have it out with him. If he cannot rise to you intellectually it will be better if he remains away."

In the course of a couple of weeks
Mr. Granger dropped in. He arrived at an opportune moment—that is, Miss Nina was reading her written thoughts over again for the hundredth time and realizing the loss to the world by their not being published.

She had not armed herself with any deadly weapon. A woman doesn't have to in such a case. This one entered the drawing room with manuscript in hand. She made a frigid bow and extended a cold hand. It was as if she were greeting a man who held a second mortgage on the mansion.

Of course Mr. Granger noticed his reception, but not being conscious of any social dereliction he exerted himself to thaw out the atmosphere. He had come to believe he was succeeding when the manuscript was thrust into his hands and an icy voice commanded:
"Sir, read that, if you please!"

"Certainly! With the greatest pleasure. Um! Um! This seems to be a story."

"It is a story?"

"Some young lady friend of yours making a first effort?"

The question was treated with com-tempt.

"Um! Um! Seems to be a combination of essay and moral lecture.
Written by some young lady to read
at commencement or before a club.
Two or three beautiful thoughts. I can't have seen it before, and yet it reads familiar."

"It ought to, sir!"

"But—but I really believe I have read parts of it somewhere at some time."

"You have. It was sent to your magazine for publication."

"Ah, that is it, and I sent it back,
of course?"

"Yes, you sent it back."

"You see, Miss Harper, it isn't a story, nor a sketch, nor an essay, but please say to the young lady that she is to be complimented on her beautiful ideals. I am sure she must be a lovely and charming girl. Indeed, I would very much like to know her."

"But, Mr. Granger, if she is to be complimented on her ideals why did you send the story back? Why throttle her aspirations and ambitions at the very start? As a first effort it may lack in plot or construction, but couldn't you have remedied that with a little trouble and felt the pride of bringing out a new authoress?"

"I—I think," he answered after a moment, "that I was a bit selfish about it, and I hope you will forgive me. I sent it back because I preferred to bring out a wife rather than an authoress!"

A day or two later young Waterman, who had heard that Miss Nina was going to give Mr. Granger "fits," called to see if he had got what was coming to him yet. On leaving the house he shook hands vigorously and effusively
and said:

"No, isn't it lovely to be in love and engaged? I came around to pop the question myself, but it has been popped, and so I will say no more except that I am sincerely thine."

Why Mrs. Adams Was Not Home.

The Rev. Dr. Smith was acknowledged a great preacher, and he was also a close student. But he was a pastor and had a horror of making pastoral calls. One day he heard an address which convinced the dear old man that by not visiting his parishioners he had not perhaps fulfilled his duties as a spiritual leader. So he determined to call on each member of his church, and, taking the roster of the church, he decided to do it alphabetically. The first name was Mrs.
Adams, so to Mrs. Adams' house respectively went the faithful pastor next afternoon. But Mrs. Adams was not at home, said the maid.

"Not at home?" echoed the pastor.

"No, no, sir," answered the somewhat embarrassed girl.

But the pastor, not knowing why she was embarrassed, thought perhaps the girl was "fibbing," so he persisted.

"When will Mrs. Adams return?" he asked.

"I really don't know," answered the maid.

"You don't know?" asked the pastor.

"Have you no idea about when?"

"Well, not exactly, doctor," replied the maid. "She may return by 3 o'clock. You see, she's at the cemetery burying her husband."—Ladies' Home Journal.

sage from Mars will be?"

Picturesque Japanese Peasants.

The most characteristic scenery in Japan is not the mountain, on which few Japanese dwell, but the rice field, which is to be found wherever there is a patch of level ground for the field and sufficient water for irrigation. Gentle slopes are made useful by terracing, and the cool, preparing the ground or cutting his crop, is the true Japanese peasant. He is a picturesque peasant in his blue cotton suit, his broad, conical straw hat and straw overcoat. He is a good natured peasant, absurdly contented with his earnings, though the agricultural laborer earns as little as 8 or 10 cents gold a day. His house is a light wooden frame surmounted by a heavy thatch, and he loves to plant a lily garden along his rooftop. But he always has one thing which separates him from the Chinese and the East Indian—he lives on a platform raised above the ground. No hardened soil for him, no chilly pavement or brick or stone. A wooden floor, a piece of clean matting, a broom and a bathtub
the poorest Japanese will always have.

A Deceptive Air.

The Bushy storekeeper surveyed
Mr. Leonard with a contemplative eye and then turned his gaze toward Jimmy Sloane, who was putting packages into the delivery wagon. Jimmy had the leisurely air of one with plenty of time at his disposal.

"You want to know how he'd be for your business down below?" said Mr.
Gregg slowly.

"Yes," said the visitor. "I noticed him yesterday, when that crowd of young fellows were getting the piano into the hall; he seemed to work harder than any of the others. It occurred to me he might like a bigger chance than he has here."

"M-m," said the storekeeper. "Well,
now, I can't say as to that, of course, but as to his working harder than any of the other boys, I'll tell you what they say, and you can believe it or not,
just as you choose."

"They all like Jimmy, for he's first rate company, but the truth is that when it comes to lifting, or such work, Jimmy's all take hold and mighty little hist."—Youth's Companion.

Dark Walls Best For Illumination.

Some scientists who have been making investigations into the part played in the matter of illumination by light and dark walls have come to the conclusion that the dark walls are better fitted for good illumination than the light. In a room where the walls are dark and where the source of light is entirely behind the reader's field of vision a person who reads is impressed with the idea that the room is excellently well illuminated, but if now another light is brought into the room and placed within the field of his vision, though not shining on the paper he is reading, the pupils of his eyes will contract, less light will enter them from the paper he reads, and the reader will be impressed with the idea that the illumination has been reduced and the paper is becoming darker. These scientists say that the experiments show that if the walls are light colored the efficiency of the illumination may actually be diminished.—Pathfinder.

The Picture In Disguise.

Of the strange vicissitudes through which many of the world's famous pictures have passed perhaps none was oddier than that of "The Picture In Disguise," a magnificent painting that now adorns the residence of Lord Leigh in Warwickshire, England. This remarkable picture for many years appeared to be merely a painting of flowers. The floral study was, however, finally pronounced by an astute art dealer to be in reality a mask for another painting. With the permission of the owner he caused the painting of flowers gradually to be removed, whereupon there was discovered underneath a very fine portrait of Charles I. by Van Dyck. While no authentic record of this masterpiece has been found, it is supposed that the portrait was disguised by some royal ist in order to guard against its destruction by Roundheads during the revolution.—Boston Post.

Bonheur's Humor.

Mlle. Rosa Bonheur (Rosa stood for Rosalie) was not without a sense of humor, so it is told of her that when presiding over a school of design in Paris, the pupils being girls, the artist was disgusted with the class because imitative of their teacher, the young women had cut their hair short.
"Goodness," cried Rosa Bonheur, "how horrid you all look! This is not a class of boys. You silly creatures, let your hair alone and do your best so as to retain all the advantages of your sex."

Easy Cure.

"There is a man who is always looking for trouble."

"Well, it's easy, enough to cure him
of that habit."

"How?"

"Get him put on the police force."—
Exchange.

Sarcastic.

"Do you sleep with your mouth open?" inquired a doctor.

"I've never noticed," was the sarcastic reply, "but I'll look tonight when I'm asleep."

The Professor Remembers.

ing up, missing one of his rubbers)—
Has any of you gentlemen put on three rubbers by mistake?—Fleegende
